"Ode To Joy"

Art Group Notes
The Art Group has been meeting via Zoom for several months attempting to encourage ourselves to keep creating in a time of aridness. We have laughed, shared pieces of work, and cried together.

At our last meeting we shared remembrances of Joy Floyd and her impact on us as individuals, the group and the art world. Joy was an active Seabury artist right up to the end of her life. It was out of this sharing that our latest exhibit theme evolved. We would each do a collage using found objects "a la Joy." Joy loved using the unexpected piece of trash, scrap of cloth and what ever else caught her eye. Quoting her friend Kayla Costenoble, "Joy hated waste!" This would honor her and Earth Day. We could all feel Joy smiling her sweet little smile. The Art Group is pleased to share that the sale of these collages will benefit Encore.

Adding to our Earth Day theme, the display cases were filled with natural objects, wood, stone, shells, pottery and dried plant materials, including bowls created by Buck Lawton on the lathe. George Jones has graciously lent us his scale model of a boat that he built entirely himself. A truly exciting piece of art that you won't want to miss.

If you are interested in hearing about the Art Group in a regular way or would like to join the group, send an email to Marye Gail Harrison maryegailh@gmail.com. She will add your name to our listserve
